

TRIVIA #7

In a frame of Snooker, the scores are level and only the Pink and Black are left on the table. The Pink ball is hanging over the edge of one pocket and the Black is hanging over another one.

Player A. pots the Pink and the referee calls 'six'. However player A loses the frame without making a Foul. How does this happen?

There is no trick. There was no disqualification or conceding.

Answer

Player A potted the pink and when the cue-ball came to rest it was touching the black.

Referee called touching ball – Player A attempted to pot the black by playing away & coming off a cushion but missed leaving his opponent to pot the black and win by one point.
