

Premier League Singles

Bonus Sponsorship

An added incentive has been added to the Premier Singles League. The Association has secured the financing of an anonymous sponsor, to the sum of $100 per week, valid for the duration of the minor rounds (15 weeks in total).

This will be used each week to provide incentive for the players each week performing at their best, along with possibly providing funds at the end of the tournament for extra prize-money and prize-money for a repechage event.

How it works.

In the event of a 5-0 result on the night, the winning player will receive $20 the following Thursday (effectively reimbursing the player his match fees for the previous week). This applies also in the event that more than 5 matches have such a result.

If, on any given Thursday less than 5 matches result in a 5-0 result, the balance of the $100 sponsorship will be pooled. The contents of the pool at the end of the minor rounds will be allocated at Tournament Committee discretion between the losing semi finalists of the main event finals and the balance will be available as prize money for the repechage, distribution to again be at discretion of the Tournament Committee.

Participation in the repechage event is optional, but limited to those players who did not qualify for the Quarter Finals of the competition proper.
